The committee convened on 10 occasions during the year 2010. Many avenues to reduce road traffic accidents were looked in to, including playing an advocacy role, putting up sign boards, implementation of demerit point systems, slogans containing messages and road safety programmes in schools etc. with varying success.

Road safety programme in schools was started in October and the first seminar was conducted at Lyceum International School. As the response was very good from the schools as well as the school children, this activity will be continued next year with wide coverage of schools. A power point presentation was made to be distributed to School Medical Officers to propagate this message to the schools island wide. A strategy for setting up Student committees on Traffic Accident Prevention was drawn up for schools. These Committees would hold poster and essay competitions on Road Traffic, organize a parent/ student day to discuss accident prevention in addition to continuing with the school safety programme.

Objectives

- Educate doctors on the correct strategies of snakebite management.
- Educate the public on prevention, first aid and other aspects of snakebite.
- Develop a data base on snakebite.
- Establish a notification system and to inquire into all deaths related to snakebite.
- Develop a web site for snakebite.
- Streamline research on snakebite. Develop a safe and effective AVS in Sri Lanka.
- Address issues related to other venomous animal bites and invertebrate stings.

Activities performed during 2010

1. Committee meetings held:

Monthly meetings were held and minutes were circulated among committee members, confirmed and presented to the Council of the SLMA. Meetings were held on the 3rd Wednesday of every month. Nine such meetings were held for the year 2010.

2. Dissemination of information on management and prevention of snakebite

- Articles to the news papers highlighting that hump nosed viper is now among the deadly venomous snakes.
- Several discussions on TV on issues related to snakebite in English and Sinhala; Tamil being planned.
- Provided resource personnel for a seminar on snakebite at the BMICH organised by the EFL.
- Conducted a seminar on snakebite during the SLMA Foundation Sessions in Jaffna.
- Lectured to the estate staff from Ratnapura, Nuwara Eliya, Rakwana, and Badulla at the Demodara tea estate on prevention, first aid and identification of venomous snakes.
- Established a hot line accessible to any doctor anywhere in the country 24 hours a day. Eleven inquiries were made including two from the poison information centre. Most of the inquiries were on issues related to decisions on the use of AVS when the identity of the biting snake was in doubt or when initial doses of AVS had failed to evoke the desired therapeutic response.

3. Notification of deaths due to snakebite.

Even though accepted by the Ministry and a system is in place to notify to the Ministry of Health all deaths due to snakebite compliance has been exceedingly poor. This was raised with the Secretary of Health who has taken steps to revive the process.

4. Development of a data base on snakebite

A data collection form was developed in collaboration with the Epidemiology Unit. Discussions are proceeding to implement the proposal with the help of the EU at the selected sentinel sites. Analysed data will be accessible to the SLMA as well as the Epidemiology Unit in Colombo.

5. Research

Two research projects have been initiated

1. An epidemiological profile of snakebites in General Hospital of a post-conflict district in the Eastern Province of Sri Lanka. This study was hampered by not been able to find a suitable data collector.

2. A study on the incidence and nature of adverse reactions to AVS

6. Update on snakes, AVS and snakebite management

An update on the following topics is being compiled for publication in the CMJ as a CME supplement

No progress yet.

The Social Activities for the year 2010 were associated mainly with the Annual Scientific Sessions. The Cultural Show at the inauguration of the Annual Scientific Sessions the 31st of May was a riveting performance by Mastreo Ravibandu and his Drum Troupe which held the audience both local and foreign guests spellbound.

The Traditional Doctors Concert, named “Algorhythms” was held on the 1st of June at the Oak Room, Cinnamon Grand Hotel. It was an enjoyable well balanced program with a mixture of Sinhala Hindi and English vocal items performed by well known popular medical professionals. It was refreshing to hear several young talented artistes making their debut at the SLMA Concert. Veteran Artistes Prof Dayasiri Fernando and Dr Chitrangani Kariyawasam made a popular come back after a lapse of several years to give a rib tickling performance of a skit scripted by Dr Chitrangani. A graceful Bharathanatyam and a hip swinging Latin American Dance item performed by young interns added variety to the show.

The Concert was compered very professionally by Dr Sean Amarasekera who also made his distinctive contribution of “Phonetic Punctuations” as well as singing. The Grand Finale of the Concert was a Medley of Visharada Khemadasa songs performed by about 20 medical students from the Faculty of Medicine, University of Sri Jayewardanapura, a fitting tribute to the President Dr Narada Warnasuriya who was their Vice Chancellor. The concert was attended by over 100, including the chief guest, Professor Sir Michael Marmot and many foreign resource persons.

The SLMA Dinner at the close of the Annual Scientific Sessions was held at the Grand Ball Room of Galle Face Hotel. All who attended had an enjoyable evening in a relaxed atmosphere with an opportunity to make new friends and strengthen old bonds of friendship. The lilting music provided by violinist Ananda Dabare enhanced the sumptuous meal.

It is with regret that we note that this year too the SLMA Dance was not held for the 4th year in succession. We do hope that this tradition will be revived in the future.

REPORT

Prospective registration of all clinical trials involving human subjects is a requirement for trial publication in biomedical journals, and the World Health Organization (WHO) has strongly supported the call for mandatory trial registration. Recognising the need for a national body for trial registration, the Sri Lanka Clinical Trials Registry (SLCTR) was established in November 2006. The SLCTR is an internet-based, not-for-profit registry, with free access (www.slctr.lk) to researchers, clinicians, and the public. It was recognised as a Primary Registry of the WHO Registry Network in March 2008. The SLCTR regularly provides data to the Clinical Trial Search Portal of the International Clinical Trial Registry Platform of the WHO.

A total of 53 clinical trials have been registered as of 30th November 2010, with 10 of them being registered in 2010.

The SLCTR website has undergone extensive revisions to meet WHO requirements. New features include audit trails to track changes to trial protocols, updates on trial data based on progress reports provided by the investigators, and links to trial publications. The Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) of the Registry were completely revised during the year. An internal audit was conducted as a quality control initiative.

Members of the SLCTR Committee have delivered guest lectures at the Annual Sessions of the Kandy Medical Association (February 2010) and the Jaffna Medical Association (October 2010), with a view to improving awareness on clinical trial registration. A survey on the awareness on clinical trial registration was conducted among participants of the Annual Academic Sessions of the SLMA.

The first meeting of the working group was convened on 6th May 2010 to carry forward the agenda of SLMA annual sessions 2010 - equity for health, which hosted Sir Michael Marmot as the chief guest.

The following objectives were formulated to guide the activities of the group.

- a) To raise awareness of the medical profession and general public on issues relating to health equity and social determinants of health (SDH)
- b) To encourage research in relevant areas and translation of knowledge into practice
- c) To facilitate capacity building among health professionals
- d) To network with local, regional and global partners to take forward the agenda of narrowing health inequalities.

A SLMA newsletter editorial and a leading article in the Ceylon Medical Journal (Narrowing health inequalities in Sri Lanka: issues and challenges (Vol 55, No 3, 2010)), were used to raise awareness of the medical profession on issues relating to health equity and social determinants of health (SDH)

The committee will identify issues within which the broad agenda of health inequity can be addressed by the group. Discussions were held to identify 5 key areas that will serve as entry points for action. It was agreed that sectors such as education and housing was important in addressing equity at a broader level and the group will also focus on health related issues such as health care provision and nutrition.

SLAAS section-A has agreed to work closely with the SLMA group on issues related to health equity and SDH. A series of joint research forums is being planned to facilitate capacity building among health professionals and the first of these will focus on assessment of social status: methods and instruments.

The group will explore opportunities for networking with local and regional organizations and informal discussions were held with the World Health Organisation (WHO) to procure funds for future activities.
